The Radio Equipment Directive (RED) replaces the old R&TTE directive from Important hints: 1999 as the regulatory framework for radio products in the European Union. All products sold to final customers after 12th of June, 2017 have to be compliant with RED. At the time of writing, the text of the RED legislation was available from this link: http://eur-lex.europa.eu/eli/dir/2014/53/oj RED approval is only valid for products in delivery state, including standard hardware and software. If the products are delivered to OEM manufacturers for their use (integration) in final or combined products, it is in the responsibility of the OEM manufacturer to demonstrate compliance with all applicable EU directives and standards. The EnOcean declaration of conformity serves as input to the declaration of conformity for the final product. At the time of writing following documents guidance have been published: Blue Guide: http://ec.europa.eu/DocsRoom/documents/18027/ RED Guide: http://ec.europa.eu/docsroom/documents/23321 Specifically, within the new RED framework, all OEM manufacturers have for instance to fulfill the following additional requirements: Provide product branding clearly identifying company name or brand and product name as well as type, charge or serial number for market surveillance Include documentation containing full postal address of the manufacturer as well as radio frequency band and maximum transmitting power Include a user manual, safety information and a declaration of conformity for the final product in local language Provide product development and test documentation upon request Please contact an accredited test house for detailed guidance.
